Commencement Speakers Announced

Bishop Larkin

Florida Senator Edgar M. Dunn, Jr. will address the 268 graduates at Saint Leo College's fourteenth annual Commencement Exercises scheduled at 4 p.m. on Sunday, April 20, in the Marion Bowman Activities Center.

Dunn was first elected to the Florida Senate in 1974 after completing two appointments as the Asssistant State Attorney for the 7th Judicial Circuit and serving one year as the Assistant City Attorney and City Prosecutor for Daytona Beach.

The native Floridian received his Doctor of Jurisprudence from the University of Florida Law Center and his Bachelor of Arts from the University of Florida. For two years he served as General Counsel to Governor Reubin O 'D. Askew; served on the Governor's Council on Criminal Justice; was the Florida Delegate to the National Council on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals; was Chairman of the Organized Crime Coordinating Council.

He has received numerous professional and civic awards including the "Outstanding Legislative Contribution" award from the Florida Academy of Trial Lawyers in 1976.

He and his wife, Margaret, reside in Daytona Beach with their four children.

The Most Reverend W. Thomas Larkin, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of St. Petersburg, will deliver the Baccalaureate Homily at 10:30 a.m. the same day.

Bishop Larkin received his Doctorate in Sacred Theology from Rome's University of St. Thomas, where he was a classmate of Pope John Paul II and one of only three Americans in the graduating class.

His service to the Catholic Church since Ordination in 1947 has all been spent in Florida parishes, predominantly at Christ the King Parish in Jacksonville, which he founded, and St. Cecelia's Parish in Clearwater, in addition to his term as Officialis and Vicar General of the Diocese of St. Petersburg since its creation, prior to his election in 1979 as the second Bishop of that Diocese.

He served from 1975 until 1979 as a member of the Saint Leo College Board of Trustees and has a long-standing friendship with the nuns from Holy Name Priory which began during his very first assignment as Associate Pastor at Holy Family Parish in North Miami, associated with Holy Family School which at that time was run by Holy Name Priory.

During Commencement Exercises Senator Dunn will receive an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Saint Leo and Bishop Larkin will receive an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Traditions of the Class of 1980

By John Lowrey
Monarch Sports Editor

Tradition is the initiation of an event that will be carried on for years to come. This year, the Class of 1980 has set a high standard of involvement in the college community. We hope that this standard will become a tradition at Saint Leo College.

The senior class has been involved in such activities as serving at the Board of Trustees dinner, serving lunch during Parents' Weekend, holding raffles, entering a Cross-State run, sponsoring the Mr. Muscle dance and contest, selling senior T-shirts, and assisting a needy family with donations.

The Class of 1980 has also obtained green and gold gowns for graduation. They have been the only class in Saint Leo College's history to have a senior dinner, and the only class since 1969 to have a senior prom. They are also the first class to have a senior officer, class secretary Sally Falkinburg, receive an outstanding service award from the Alumni Association.

This year's senior class hopes that the following classes can continue to make a good impression on the college community, to expand and improve upon the activities and ideas left behind by the previous classes.

Tradition becomes a part of the school, and makes each class a recognizable part of Saint Leo history. To be recognized for outstanding achievement and tremendous participation in the college community is something of which each class can be proud. We, as the Class of 1980, feel that we have established this tradition, and we hope that every class to follow us can keep it alive.

Special Thanks!

The Officers of Class of 1980, Kevin O'Brien, president; Adelaide Lafferty, vice president; Bill Zabler, treasurer; Sally Falkinburg, secretary and the entire graduating class of 1980 wish to extend their special thanks to Dr. Thomas Southard, Dr. Robert Gould, Dr. Robert Ackerman, Mr. Allen Powers, Mr. Robert Richmond, Ms. Joy Shepard, Ms. Hazel Whitman, Mr. Bob Duell, Mr. Dennis Van Wey, and all others who have contributed their welcome support to the Class of 1980.

Two of the "Monarch's" Own

By Philip Hughes
Monarch Editor

The "Monarch" wishes to extend its deepest thanks to two of its former editors who are graduating this year. Dotti Dauten and Doug Gallegos served the paper selflessly and well in the position.

Being editor of a college newspaper looks like an easy job with a lot of glamour until one lands it. It is not easy for those on the outside looking in to see just how much of their time and talents these two remarkable people gave to the "Monarch."

For both Dotti and Doug, The "Monarch" and its staff wish nothing but the best.

The Senior Issue

By Philip Hughes
Monarch Editor

This Senior issue is an experiment of sorts. The "Monarch" staff bowed out of the writing end, and let the Class of 1980 do the issue themselves, with the paper providing an in-put to the publishing and layout process.

This not only offered the seniors the freedom to say what they wanted about their class, but it also gave the staff something of a break. Writing all year, they had a bit of breather to study for finals.

The seniors seemed to enjoy doing it, and the staff certainly enjoyed their early break.

The "Monarch" extends its best wishes to all of the Class of 1980.

Farewell to the Class of '80

By Greg Greiwe
Class of 1980

It was written in a song once that "The Times, They Are A-Changing", and for the Class of 1980, it will be quite an adjustment to depart from a campus that has provided academic excellence and countless memories.

Like an unfinished novel, college life at Saint Leo never reached a conclusion until now. Its chapters unfolded a four-year adventure which many of us will never forget.

The first encounter of new friends, the long cafeteria lines, the many fantastic nights at the News Room (or Headliner,) and the numerous trips to our advisors during registration, all of these and many other stories sparked an exciting and unforgettable experience at Saint Leo College.

But, as every best-selling novel begins, it must also end. For the seniors graduating on April 20th, we have reached our academic goal. It is now time to turn the page and begin exploring new challenges within our professions. There are new paths that each of us will carve with the knowledge we have gained, exhibiting the qualities for which Saint Leo stands.

We are sincerely grateful to the administrators, faculty members, and college personnel who have patiently guided us toward our college goal. Special thanks is also due to the members of the Abbey and Priory. Without their spiritual guidance and personal flair, Saint Leo College would not be the same.

For the students entering next year, best of luck!

A Grad's Feelings

By John Lowrey
Monarch Sports Editor

As a senior about to graduate, I feel a great deal of pride. I have persevered for four years to earn a college degree.

One might feel anxiety as the pressure of making other decisions comes forth, but as a senior I have learned to make decisions. I have learned to think before I react, and I feel that Saint Leo College has prepared me to deal sufficiently with any decisions I must make in the future.

One should look at college as an experience. Experience always comes in handy at one time or another. One may not realize their benefits right away, but as time progresses, one's experiences lend direction to one's life. I feel that the experiences I have had at Saint Leo College will benefit me more in the future than I may realize.

I feel a sense of loss because I may never see some of these people again. Many of the friends I have made here at Saint Leo will now travel to different parts of the country. Nevertheless, I do have the memory of the good times that we have had—the opportunity we have had—the organizations and the clubs of which we were a part. This brings me a good feeling about my college life.

I feel that the accomplishment of obtaining a degree is only part of one's reward for completing four years of college. Each of us has been rewarded with the acquisition of new knowledge and the preparation to use that knowledge.

I would like to thank all the faculty and students who have made my college career an experience that I will never forget.

What Should a Senior Be?

By John Lowrey
Monarch Sports Editor

A senior should be an individual who has not only completed the requirements for graduation, but has been a recognizable part of the college community. A senior should be one who has participated in many extracurricular activities during his or her college career and has contributed as much as possible to the success of his or her class.

A senior should be one who is aware of his or her part in the college community. He or she should be actively involved in order to enrich and enhance the community, to make it a place of valuable educational experience.

A senior should have gained knowledge that will make him or her an asset to society. A senior should be someone who is concerned about others and has demonstrated their willingness to help others in their quest for a college degree.

Seniors should be those who have left a favorable impression on the underclassmen, one who will allow them to proceed in the right direction.

Most of all, a senior should be one who can show compassion. Compassion leads to understanding and a senior who can understand people will contribute greatly to the college and to society as a whole. That's what education is all about.

Senior Athletes

By John Lowrey
Monarch Sports Editor

As we all know, all things must come to an end. This year's commencement will mark the end of intercollegiate competition for many of our graduating athletes.

The senior athlete is one who has competed in athletic activities in order to represent both class and school. They have contributed a great deal of leadership to the teams of which they have been members.

We should recognize the senior athletes, their participation, accomplishments, and the tremendous efforts they have put forth to make Saint Leo College a recognizable part of the NCAA.

We would like to thank all of the Class of 1980's athletes for their efforts in intercollegiate activity, and wish them success in all of the sports in which they may participate in the future.

We hope that you may look at this year as a step to another plateau and not as an end to athletic competition. Carry on in the tradition that you have left behind.
